

ECPTOTE Building Move Delayed and anticipated Downtime on/around June 6-7, 2022

Please note: The dates and times that follow are tentative. Unanticipated changes may occur that might impact the information below. This message and/or our home page will be updated throughout the move.

The Executive Council of Physical Therapy and Occupational Therapy Examiners (ECPTOTE) has recently learned that the Texas Facilities Commission (TFC) has postponed our move to the George H. W. Bush State Office Building. This message and/or our website will be updated after we receive final confirmation from the Texas Facilities Commission of a definitive moving date.

Please also note that due to a power shutdown required by TFC, the agency's website and phone lines may be temporarily unavailable from sometime after the close of the business day on June 6 until sometime the morning of June 7.

During that time, note the following alternate links to access the Boards' Act and Rules.

The agency's web site will also soon be undergoing some required technical maintenance. It is anticipated this will occur sometime in June, and during such, the website may be temporarily unavailable. Once the website is restored, its appearance may differ slightly and/or you may notice that you are being redirected to updated URLs. The agency's web site address, however, will remain the following:

ptot.texas.gov

As of June 7, 2022, please remember to direct mailed correspondence to the agency's new address, shown below. Despite the delayed move, mail will be forwarded to our new address as of that date. The agency's phone number and email addresses will not change.

ECPTOTE

1801 N Congress Avenue, Suite 10.900

Austin, TX 78701

Please also note that the agency's offices will be closed to visitors starting from June 7 until after the move is complete and the agency has received notification from TFC that the new building is open to the public.

As we near the date of the move, this message may be revised to include further details, if applicable, regarding further system downtime/interruptions.

We thank you for your understanding and patience during this transition.
